Married, Nov. 27, at the residence of Mrs. Fannie Taylor in Paw Paw, Chas. E. Glidden of Mattawan and Miss Ada Truesdale of Kalamazoo. The marriage was solemnized by Mrs. Anna Barton.

Tromp, the photographer, announces that he will remain in Paw Paw until Jan. 4. None who wish to secure first-class work should fail to call on him before that date. See his adv. for reduced prices.

News was received here yesterday of the death of Jesse J. Brott at Chippewa Falls, Wis. The only particulars at hand are that he was injured in a railway accident some ten days since, and this is probably the result of it.

Special meeting of Paw Paw Lodge No. 25, F. & A. M., Tuesday evening, Dec. 4. Work on 3rd degree.

Dr. Hamilton has just received an elegant line of bristle hair brushes, and calls special attention to them, and the remarkably low figure at which he proposes to sell them, in his adv. to day.

By private letter from Prof. Mincer, the noted oculist who was here some weeks ago, we learn that himself and son will shortly visit us again, notice of which will be given through this paper.

Judge Buck Tuesday morning called on John Mix, the Hartford half-breed Indian who had pleaded guilty to the larceny of a horse and buggy, and sentenced him to four and a half years at Ionia.

Frank Tucker had his right leg amputated in a Grand Rapids hospital a few days ago in order to save his life. The limb was injured some months ago on a defective sidewalk in the northern part of the state.

Mr. Jud. Holmes suffered quite a serious attack of stomach difficulty last week and was confined to his bed for several days. We are glad to know, however, that he is again able to attend to his business affairs.

Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Stinecomb went to Kalamazoo Monday to consult an oculist in regard to the latter's eyes, which have given her considerable trouble of late. She was encouraged to hope for speedy relief.

Anticipating the wants of wood and log cutters, Holmes & Bilsborrow have ordered an extensive line of cross-cut saws and axes of the finest grades, and call attention to them in their adv. to day. Their stock of general hardware, of course, is complete in every detail.

The case of Thos. W. Murphy, as administrator of the estate of his deceased wife, who was killed at the Central railroad crossing in Lawton a year and a half ago, was tried in the circuit court here last Friday and Saturday. The jury found for the plaintiff, awarding damages of $5,000.

Probably the finest and best lot of personal property ever offered in this section at auction, is that of the Albert Grout estate which Geo. W. Longwell will sell next Wednesday, and which is enumerated in an advertisement on this page. Everything is first-class and in excellent condition.

Nothing but the World's Fair exhibition of shoes can compete with Harry Showerman's 1555 pairs of agents' sample shoes which he is going to sell at one half price. His merchant tailor misfit suits were all made up this fall, and are being sold at one half the price of merchant tailor suits.

Aaron Edward Lindsley, an old and highly esteemed resident of this place, died at an early hour yesterday morning of typhoid fever, aged 78 years and 1 month. The date of the funeral has not yet been fixed, as there are several near relatives of deceased whose exact whereabouts have not thus far been ascertained.

Our people were shocked Wednesday morning to learn of the death of Mr. M. C. Wilson, which occurred at 9 o'clock Tuesday evening, after an illness of but little over two days. Deceased was 78 years of age, and during his residence of three years in this place had made a friend of every person with whom he had come in contact. Funeral from the late residence this afternoon at two o'clock. Burial at Prospect.

At the close of the Thanksgiving service at the M. E. church yesterday afternoon, the treasure box that has laid so long at Broughton's store awaiting the coming of the holder of the only key that would open it, was broken open and its contents, (fifty silver dollars), together with ten dollars added by Mr. Broughton, was divided equally among the six churches of this village. We much mistake the make-up of our people if the bread Mr. B. has thus thrown upon the waters does not return to him many fold.

Mr. T. M. Harvey, our incoming register of deeds, has removed with his family to this place and they are now settled in the Ison residence on Elm street. On the eve of their departure from Bangor the Grand Army Post of that place gave a banquet in honor of Comrade Harvey, who had always been an active and prominent member of the organization, and at the close of the feast presented him a gold-handled silk umbrella as a slight token of their esteem. Our people will extend a cordial welcome to Mr. H. and his excellent family.

Col. Copeland lectured before the Ladies' Lecture association at Lawton Wednesday night. On his way down to that place on the train he had the ill luck to get into the company of a brainless egotist from this place, who by chance had learned who the Colonel was and what his business was, and of course thought the lecturer needed some pointers as to the character of the audience he was to address. "Why," says the thing from Paw Paw, "you should not wear a 'spike-tailed' coat there—they wouldn't know what it was." The Lord don't give geese brains; neither does He clothe all geese with feathers.

Adjutant-General Eaton received a few days since from the adjutant-general of Ohio discharges for the following named Michigan soldiers. It is not known how they came to be in the hands of the Ohio officials, but they are valuable to the owners, and General Eaton is desirous of finding the men or their legal representatives that he may forward the discharges: Oliver Ketchum, Co. K, 13th infantry; Job D. Ballou, Co. G, 9th infantry; Henry F. Pomeroy, Co. C, 18th infantry; Carlos Johnson, Co. B, 27th infantry; A. J. Steele, Co. H, 27th infantry; Don Sanford, Co. F, 6th infantry; John Perkins, Co. A, 10th infantry; Thomas R. Downer, Co. C, 10th infantry; Elton G. Dolon, Co. C, 4th cavalry; Henry Kuncie, Co. F, 3rd cavalry; William S. Hopkins, Co. K, 9th cavalry.

The entertainment given at the Disciple church last Friday evening by the Temple Quartette Concert Company of Boston was simply superb; and nothing but words of praise were expressed by the large, intelligent and critical audience.

The attention of our lady readers is specially directed to the prospectus of Harper's Bazar in another place in this issue. The Bazar, aside from its high literary merits is the fashion journal par excellence of America—the patterns furnished with the magazine alone being worth much more than the price of the publication.

The crowded condition of our columns, rendered so by the demands of our advertising patrons, compels us to surrender the space usually occupied by editorial matter to the proceedings of the board of supervisors in the October session, the publication of which is begun this week and will be continued weekly until finished.

George W. Merriman, state senator from the Eighth district, and Mrs. Jennie Smiley Phelps, sister of Mitchell J. Smiley, are to be married Wednesday evening, Dec. 5th, at the home of the bride's brother, 300 Cherry st., Grand Rapids. The guests will be limited to relatives and immediate friends. Mr. Merriman and his bride will live in Hartford.—Kalamazoo Telegraph.

We used to read about caravans traversing the great deserts of the East and going day after day without seeing a drop of water, a blade of grass or a green shrub, and with what joy the sight of an oasis was hailed, where the weary travelers might rest and their beasts of burden get a cooling draught. So with people in search of bargains: Having become foot-sore, weary and faint-hearted from following false and illusive "signs," how gladly they embrace the opportunity to rest from their peregrinations when they find a place like Sellick's, where everything is as represented and prices are on bed-rock. See their adv.

Mr. Chas. Delamere of South Haven Tuesday morning presented to Judge Buck a petition, signed by the representative citizens of his village, praying that Heald and Cartland, the two boys implicated in burglarizing the Michigan Central passenger depot at South Haven some months ago, be discharged on a suspended sentence. The examination of the accused had been held before Mr. Delamere, and of course he was conversant with the case in all its bearings; therefore when he supplemented the appeal of the petition with a personal request, the judge thought so favorable of the proposition as to release the boys, merely requiring them to report to him on the 21st day of January, when, if all conditions continue favorable, it is probable their discharge will be made complete.

Hundreds of newspaper publishers throughout the great Northwest will feel a sense of personal bereavement in the death of Charles Edmund Strong, general manager of the Chicago Newspaper Union, which occurred at his home in Chicago on the 14th inst. An apprentice at the printer's trade in Milwaukee in 1855, in his 14th year, he worked his way through all the grades of the art until in 1862 he was made foreman of the Evening Wisconsin, which position he held until 1870, when his employers sent him to Chicago to establish and put in operation the Chicago Newspaper Union, which has become, under his superb management, the largest auxiliary printing house in the world. Mr. Strong possessed social qualities of a high order, and to his natural gifts he had added the charm and graces of a cultivated mind. He leaves a wife and two children.

The Coming Senate. The Lansing Republican of a recent date gives a write-up of the Michigan state senate, from which we extract the following:

The politics of the senate is as follows: Republicans, 32; democrats, 0; populists, 0; prohibitionists, 0; total, 32. The senators are all protectionists—at least they said so on the stump. Several have leanings toward free coinage, but none believe in free wool, and all are convinced that the g. o. p. is the greatest party of the greatest nation of the world. Some are prominent in religious matters; at least a few are A. P. A's.

Now, as for the means by which Michigan's 32 senators earn their living: It's not a lawyer body, neither is it a body of grangers, although there are both grangers and lawyers on its roll. The business men predominate. There are 3 real estate men, 5 lumbermen, 5 merchants, 1 druggist, 11 lawyers, 4 farmers, 1 doctor, 1 editor and 1 mine superintendent. The farmers are also engaged in other business, while several of the lawyers really do more at real estate and banking than they do at law. The solitary editor is E. O. Shaw of Newaygo; the druggist, C. L. Brundage of Muskegon; the mine superintendent, Peter Pascoe of Republic.

The average age of the senators is 45.07. Brudage of Muskegon, aged 64, is the oldest; Smalley of Wayne is the infant—30. There are 8 under 40 and 11 over 50.

Nine have had collegiate educations. The U. of M. furnishes 8 graduates, Olivet 3, state normal 2, Bowdoin 1, Hillsdale 1, Kalamazoo 1, M. A. C. 1, Albany normal 1, Hamilton college 1.

As to birthplaces, 13 were born in Michigan, 6 in New York, 3 in England, 2 in Pennsylvania, 2 in Wisconsin, 2 in Ohio, 1 in Maine, 1 in Connecticut, 1 in New Jersey, 1 in Massachusetts. The Britishers are Peter Pascoe of Republic, M. J. Blay of Bay City, and R. E. French of Port Huron. They're all good American citizens now.

Only nine of the senators, McLaughlin, Jewell, Clapp, French, Barnard, Earle, Brundage, Wheeler and Pascoe, have served in the senate before. Smalley, Watts, Preston and Sheldon have been in the lower house. It will thus be seen that 19 of the body are absolutely new at the business of legislating.
